The Newsletter for One Book and MCC Reads

Dear One Book + MCC Reads Friends,

This week's edition of Read On! finds us visiting with folks in Stanton, Sidney and Greenville. How wonderful it is to know that there are readers in every town in our community and throughout our countryside. Let's hear their stories.

Community Book Chats

White Pine District Library Director Patty Rockafellow was visited by Montcalm County Sheriff Mike Williams to talk books and libraries. Both community minded individuals, they have enjoyed reading since childhood and Patty asks Sheriff Williams to share his go-to titles from boyhood to today.

MCC Book Chat

Student Success Center Lab Supervisor Taryn Muilenburg is also an MCC graduate, mom of two adorable children, and has her own little herd of critters, and still she makes time to read. In fact, Taryn is the most enthusiastic reader you might ever meet! Enjoy Taryn's love of literature as she shares several of her favorite titles that could become

Donkey Days

Anne Thompson and Clancy have been friends for several years. After Clancy lost his best donkey friend, he was looking for another place to find his donkey joy and found it on the Thompson's farm with an assortment of other animals and as Anne's pet! Hear Clancy's story from Anne, and as a reader, Anne can't resist sharing some of her most meaningful reads.

Along the Trails

Biology Instructor Heather Wesp can be found not only in the classroom, but also on the Kenneth J. Lehman Nature Trail which wanders through some of the most scenic woods in Montcalm County, all on MCC's campus. Everyone is invited to use this free resource and pick up a complimentary map of the trail, including over 100 self-guided nature stops – and recently added 18-hole disc golf course. The trail is open to walkers, runners and bike riders and appropriate for all ages and abilities. Be sure to check out Heather's book suggestions at the end of her trail talk.
